

A Postcard From My Future Self

A large rectangular area with a thick black border, intended for writing a message or drawing. It is divided into two sections by a horizontal line, with the top section being slightly larger than the bottom section.