

Additional Questions

In this handout, you'll find additional questions and scenarios drawn from the Interrogang game. You can use these for self-reflection or to share with friends to hear their perspectives and thoughts.

Understanding and Communicating Our Boundaries

- Are there any social customs (such as greetings) that make you uncomfortable?

Boundaries and Healthy Relationships

- How much do you discuss your views on sexuality and gender with your family?
- How can the people who you are in relationships with show you that they value you?
- How does your communication style differ among colleagues, friends, partners, or family members?
- Your parents tell you that you are no longer allowed to see one of your closest friends. What would you say or do?
- A friend invites you to their home for dinner, admits to having feelings for you, and wants to pursue a relationship, but you don't feel the same way. What would you say or do?
- Your parents find out through social media that you have been dating someone a few years older than you. They confront you and tell you that you are no longer allowed to date your partner. What would you say or do?
- Your partner gives you an ultimatum: choose them or your friends. What would you say or do?
- Your partner is upset, but you don't know why. It's possible that they're upset with you for something you did. What would you say or do?
- A new friend invites you to work on a project in a relatively isolated area of campus, You like this person, but you're uncomfortable meeting privately. What would you say or do?

Talking about Consent

- How do you define "having sex"?
- If someone has questions about their sexual health, what resources may be available, through your school or community?
- Who or what has had the biggest impact on your views on sexuality and gender?
- Who or what has had the biggest impact on your views on sex?

Women and Gender Equality Canada

Femmes et Égalité
des genres Canada

Ministry of Post-Secondary Education and Future Skills

